ON

JANUARY 17, 1706, there was born into the impoverished family of an obscure Boston tallow chandler, the first truly important self-made man of America. This versatile genius, Benjamin Franklin, was in his time the living embodiment of those imperishable Yankee ideals of fearless patriotism, scientific "know-how," and shrewdly idealistic business activity.

An eminent leader in such diverse fields as politics, science, economics, literature, and education, Franklin, a true child of the Enlightenment, based his extensive moral teachings on the considerations of reason and prudence and, through the use of his liberal tolerance, leavened the colonial mind with a necessary receptiveness to new concepts and goals.

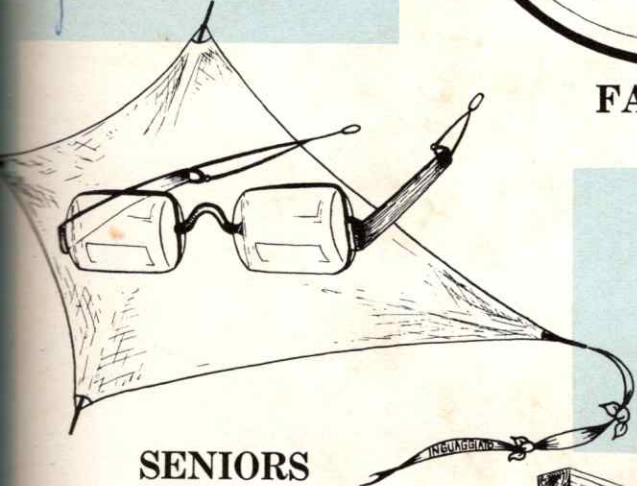

It is in memory of this not so poor Richard that we, the seniors of his school, on the two hundred and fifty fifth anniversary of his birth, proudly dedicate our 1961 yearbook - almanac, hoping that in our own lives we can perhaps leaven the American mind of the future by emulating those sterling qualities of personality and character that marked our patron saint.

Bob,

MR. SABIN
Principal

We, the Senior Class of 1961, are privileged to offer you, Mr. Sabin, our KEY to membership in that royal society which is guided and inspired by the everlasting memory of Benjamin Franklin, for you, to us, personify the present afterglow of his shining character and sterling life.

FACULTY

Franklin as a Statesman

An apostle of the American spirit of freedom under law, Benjamin Franklin holds a high place among world heroes because he has done so much for our nation and for humanity. As a diplomatist, he battled for the friendship of the French, and he played a significant role in gaining liberty for his country. One of the five signatories of the Declaration of Independence, Franklin in his thoughts and deeds expresses the American ideal of democracy, of equal rights for all.

Like this realistic yet visionary statesman of the 1770's, our faculty has taught us, through their far-sighted diplomacy and love of rational freedom, the true meaning of that unforgettable maxim: "That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these rights are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Franklin as a Scientist

In his mature years, the ingenious Franklin carefully observed scientific phenomena, especially weather conditions, and perfected a pair of bifocal spectacles for his own personal use. A scientist of the first order, this practical inventor with the curious mind proved on June 15, 1752, that lightning is electrical in nature by flying a kite during a thunderstorm. This famous experiment ended the ancient mystery of thunder and lightning and led to the widespread use of the lightning rod.

Likewise, our seniors — those curious Franklinites of 1961 — have, in their own inimitable way, carefully studied their school's atmospheric conditions, courageously constructed and effectively used their own kites and lightning rods, and cheerfully donned the lenses of truth in their electrifying excursions through the scholastic skies of Quakerland.

Brockport Senior Dies Of Injuries in Auto Crash

Beverly Ann DiMeo, 20-year-old State University at Brockport senior, injured in an auto accident while returning from a football game last Saturday, died today (Oct. 8, 1964) at Strong Memorial Hospital.

Miss DiMeo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. DiMeo of 638 Hollenbeck St., was a passenger in a 1965 model sports car driven by Philip E. Hunsinger, 24, of Waverly.

State Police said the sports car shot off Lake Road, Clarkson, hit a tree and overturned about 4:15 p.m., minutes before a football game between Brockport and Bloomsburg State ended at Brockport.

Hunsinger was charged with driving while intoxicated and driving without a valid operator's license.

Hunsinger and the two other passengers, Helen Peyton, 20, of New Rochelle and John F. Thomson, 20, of Niagara Falls, were taken to Lakeside Memorial Hospital, Brockport.

Hunsinger, a sophomore, and Thomson, a junior, were reported in "good" condition today. Miss Peyton, a senior, was to be released today.

BEVERLY ANN DIMEO

They suffered cuts and bruises.

Misses Peyton and DiMeo had roomed together at 167 S. Main St., Brockport. Hunsinger and Thomson room at 168 S. Main St.

State Police said Thomson and Miss DiMeo were sitting on the trunk of the two-seated car, which began weaving after it passed a station wagon on Lake Road.

EPITAPH OF DR. FRANKLIN

More than sixty years before his death in 1790, when a young printer in Philadelphia, Franklin had written his own epitaph —

*"The Body of Benjamin Franklin, Printer, (Like the cover of an old book,
Its contents torn out,
And stript of its lettering and gilding,)
Lies here, food for worms.
But the work shall not be lost,
For it will (as he believed) appear once more
In a new and more elegant edition,*

Revised and corrected by
THE AUTHOR."

Last Will and Testament

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for the members of one senior class to sever the bonds which have connected them with their high school, respect for faculty and friends requires that they express their feelings upon separation.

We, the Class of 1961, hold these inanities to be self-evident, that all seniors are uncreative, that they are endowed by their teachers with several objectionable obligations, that among these are homework, tests, assignments, term papers, homework, year books and more homework. Such have been the causes of impatient sufferance of us seniors and of the necessity which constrains us, out of consideration for the faculty, to bequeath to them and our fellow Franklinites these of our worldly possessions.

To Mr. Sabin we leave our profound gratitude and deepest appreciation for his leadership and guidance in our years at Franklin High School.

To Mr. Lowell we leave 20 authentic Civil War rifles with which to threaten next year's senior class.

To Mr. Rahtjen we leave 400 eighth graders who have already processed their college applications.

To Miss Martins we leave a volume of "Koehler's 2,000 Induction Themes" for future National Honor Society ceremonies.

To Mr. Iman we leave an endless supply of bagles and lox.

To Mrs. Noftz we leave our Senior Beans, the remnants of the 4's, and freshmen talented enough to restore them for use by 1964.

To Miss Rowley we leave training wheels and blocks that fit. Happy cycling!

To Mr. McHugh we leave artists who draw, editors who edit, and seniors with an abundance of ideas for future yearbook publications.

To Mr. MacConnell we leave reversible argyles to match his Christmas tie.

To Mr. Mills we leave a free pass to the Pennsylvania Turn-pike.

To Mr. Griffith we leave a 10 year subscription to Play-boy Magazine

To Mr. Kaplan we leave a stethoscope, now that he is a doctor.

To Mr. Crane we leave a 3 dimensional blackboard with technicolor chalk for his Solid Geometry space drawings.

To Mr. Bloom we leave a series of Chemistry experiments that really work.

To Mr. DuBois we leave a map of the New York subways to use during next year's Christmas vacation.

To Mr. Hawke we leave revised tests that can be finished in one period.

To Mr. Vaiana we leave next year's New York State license tags for his car.

To Miss Zefers we leave a copy of that old favorite "Sweet Adlai" along with an unused Stevenson button.

To Mr. Masters we leave a gold mine to finance his trips to Europe.

To Mr. Betten we leave a class that does not have to come in after school.

To Mr. Cohen we leave a telephone-answering service and students that call him by his last name.

To Mr. Swarthout we leave our best wishes for a well-deserved retirement after 30 years at B.F.H.S.

To Mr. Sherwood we leave a gold "Benny Award" for his outstanding performance in the Christmas play.

To Miss Peterson we leave a German choir to sing Shtille Nacht very staccato.

To Miss Moore we leave an invitaton to President Kennedy's next inauguration and a private airplane to insure her arrival there (at the prescribed time).

To Mr. Wesley we leave our best wishes for his speedy recovery from the hazards of teaching seniors how to drive.

To Mr. Strauss we leave a group of incoming seniors who know how to solicit sponsors for next year's yearbook.

To Mr. Scheuermann we leave a coffee machine for his classroom so that he will be assured of his favorite beverage, at least five days a week.

To Mr. Proud we leave next year's Caesar class and the book entitled "Brutus is an Honorable Man" by Julius Caesar.

To the Girls' Gym Dept. we leave an IBM machine for all the gym cards.

To the incoming 8th graders we leave lots of luck.

To the Present 8th Graders we leave the Odyssey, A Tale of Two Cities, David Copperfield, Hamlet, and a great deal of perseverance.

To the Present 9th Graders we leave the latest issue of "Tips and Tricks about Regents' Exams".

To the Present 10th Graders we leave a knowledge of Abraham Lincoln for you know who.

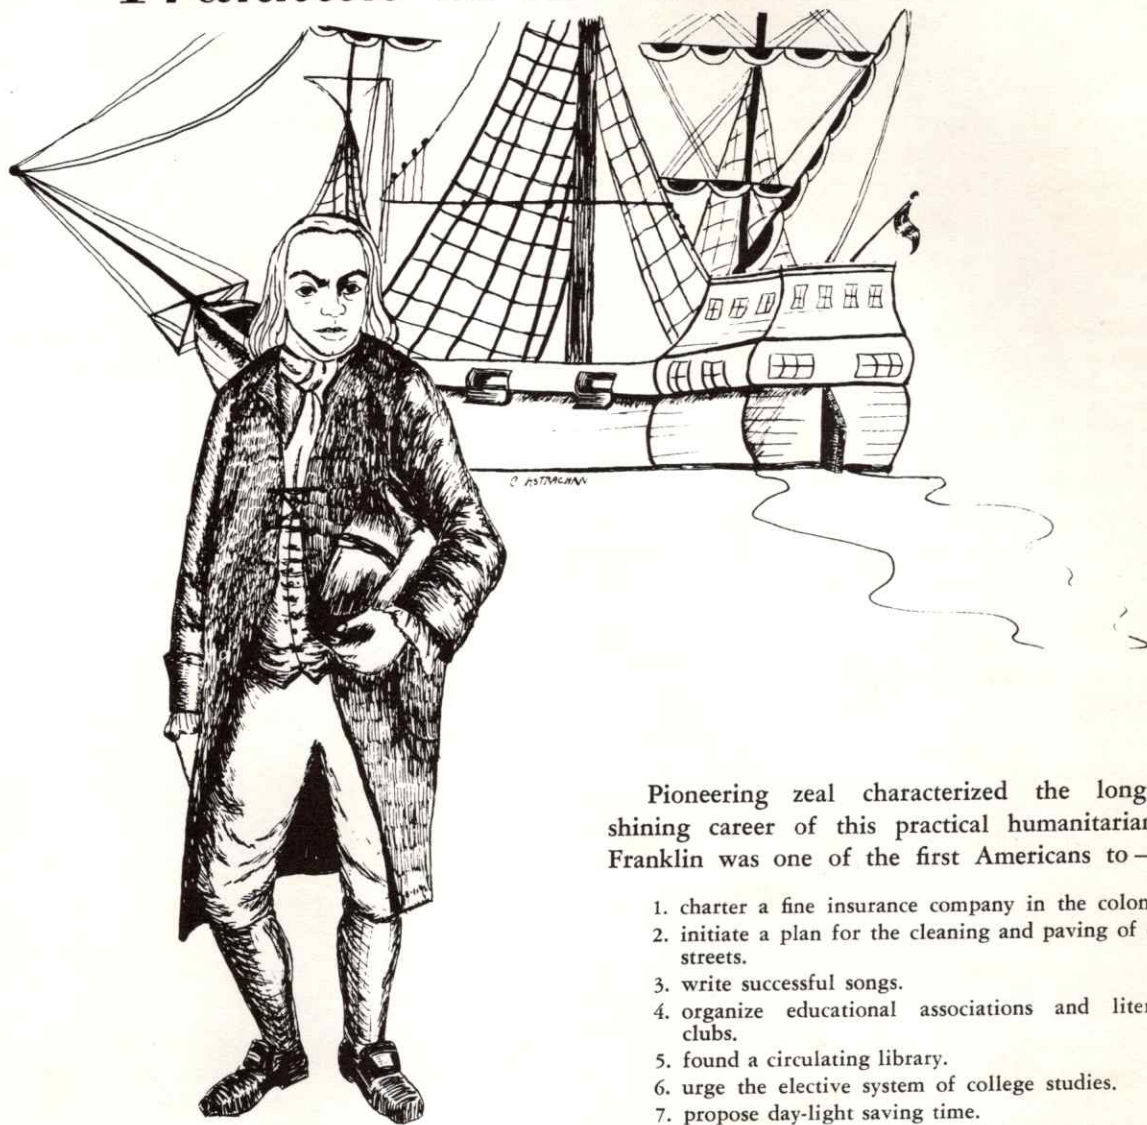

To next year's Seniors who are this year's Juniors who were the freshmen two years ago that became ... oh, the heck with it!

To the Present 12th Graders we leave 337 copies of the song, "Don't be afraid of the Storm".

This Will, drawn up by N. Cohen, Goldman, Konig, and Lebowitz and slightly amended by Bloom, B. Cohen, and Harris was formally presented at the Senior Banquet on February 11, 1961. The document, reviewed and approved by the Senior Class, embodies those beneficiaries of its material poverty in the humorous but reluctant spirit with which its members leave B.F.H.S.

ACTIVITIES

Franklin as an Adventurer

Pioneering zeal characterized the long and shining career of this practical humanitarian, for Franklin was one of the first Americans to —

1. charter a fire insurance company in the colonies.
2. initiate a plan for the cleaning and paving of city streets.
3. write successful songs.
4. organize educational associations and literary clubs.
5. found a circulating library.
6. urge the elective system of college studies.
7. propose day-light saving time.
8. formulate an effective hospital plan.
9. organize an anti-slavery society.
10. establish an efficient postal service.
11. improve the speed of sailing vessels.
12. build high-quality musical instruments.

With an endless zest for living, Franklin, one of our first national trail-blazers, rushed head long into life after his humble birth. At the age of seventeen, he was off on his own — first in New York and then in Philadelphia. Entering Philadelphia as a hungry runaway, Franklin, the apotheosis of activity, became in a short time a prosperous newspaper publisher, a successful author, and a dedicated public servant.

In like manner, those Norton Street pioneers of the sixties — the students of Dr. Franklin's school — have during the past year engaged in many interesting, diverse, and constructive activities, activities zestfully dedicated not only to their own good but also to the public welfare.

Bob's been it's been great showing you this year. best of love!
 Anita

PUBLICATIONS

Franklin as a Printer

Apprenticed early in life to his printer-brother's New England Courant, Franklin, a literary light in eighteenth century belles-lettres, enthusiastically undertook a significant career in journalism, which provided him with an invaluable opportunity for self-education and for the cultivation of his distinctive literary style. It has been said of Franklin that nowhere in his illustrious life did he reveal more pride than in his own journalistic crafts and achievements.

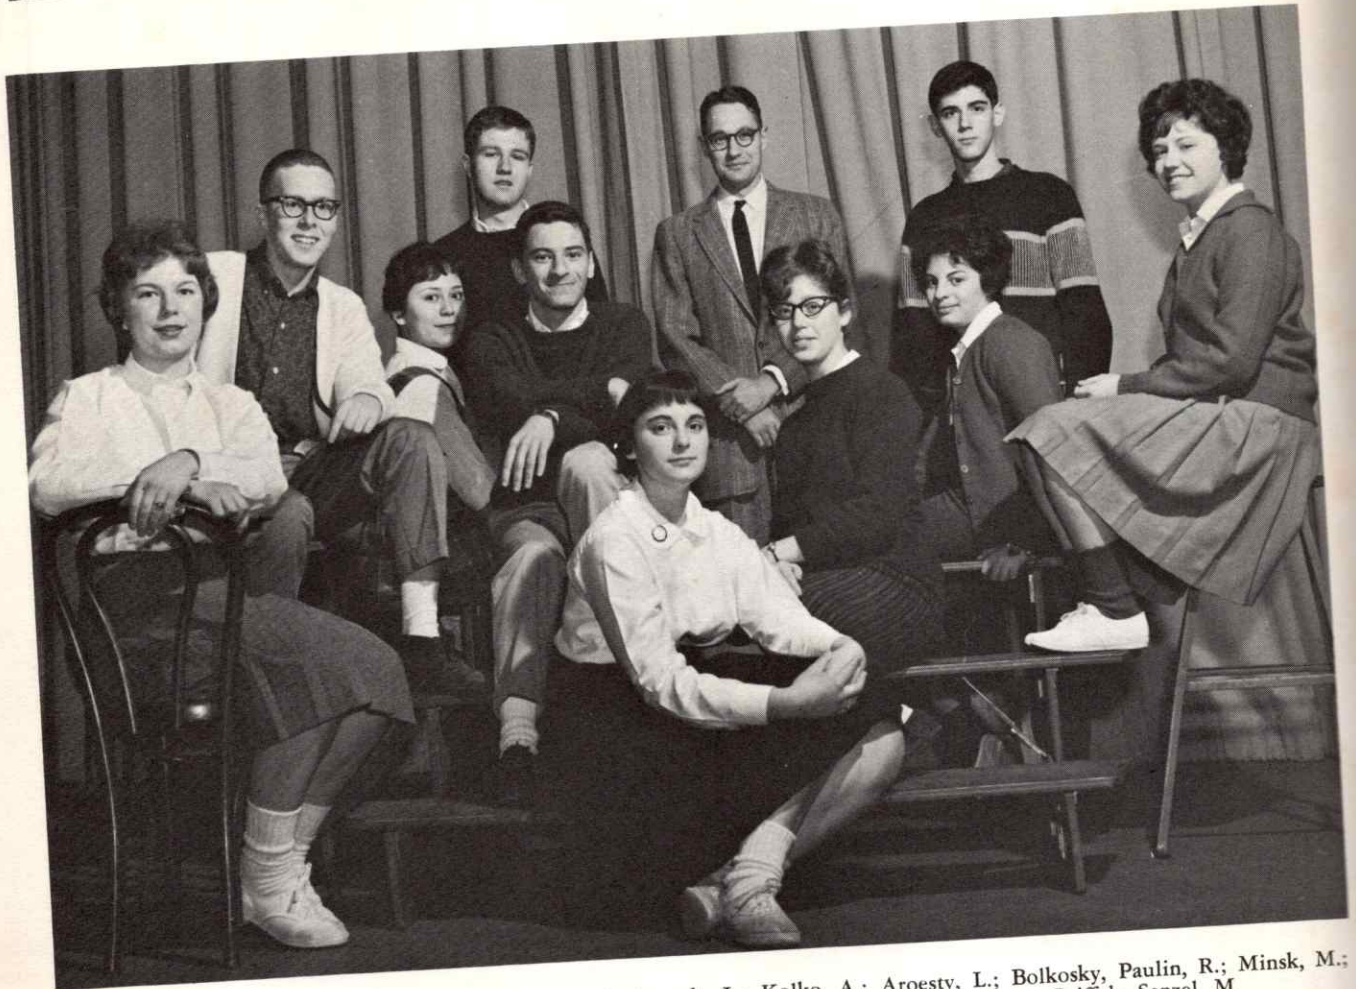

Like Franklin, the accomplished printer and publicist, those of us who have been apprenticed to discharge the various and vital responsibilities of publications at our high school during the past year, take sincere pride in our efforts to acquire the inestimable power of the printed word and more importantly to communicate to you the many, varied, and interesting features of another profitably busy year.

As an afterthought we can only hope that the Philadelphia printer, now an immortal spirit, shares our journalistic pleasure and pride, for without him — our "beau ideal" — our literary efforts would have been in vain.
